

Inspiring the Next Generation of Sheep Farmers

on Friday 19th November

at Shrewsbury Auction Centre, Shropshire, SY4 3DR

- 10am Registration / Tea and coffee
- 10.30am Welcome
- Introducing NSA Next Generation – with Katie James, NSA Next Generation co-ordinator
- 10.45am Sharing experiences
- Tom Chapman NSA Next Generation Ambassador and sheep farmer from Staffordshire, on balancing sheep with off-farm work.
 - Caryl Hughes NSA Next Generation Ambassador and shepherd from North Wales on working full-time with sheep.
- 11.40am Supporting Love Lamb Week – with NSA’s Love Lamb Ambassadors
- 11.50am Work stations: Session 1*
- 12.30pm Lunch
- 1.15pm Work stations: Session 2* [Ten minutes change-over]
- 2.05pm Work stations: Session 3*
- 3.00pm Next steps – final comments and more ways to get involved with NSA, including the launch of NSA next Generation ambassador programme for 2022 and NSA Samuel Wharry Travel Bursary.
- 3.40pm Finish and depart

* PTO for work station details

Inspiring the Next Generation of Sheep Farmers

Work Stations (Select three from five)

Title	Content	Speaker	Representing
What makes a successful livestock business?	Understand the factors of high performing businesses and how to compare performance against yourself each year and other similar flocks, whether you're just starting out or running a large enterprise	Sarah Hurford	AHDB
Getting the land you want	From short-term grazing lets to full FBTs, share farming agreements to contract farming, there are many routes into keeping sheep and lots of options new starters can take advantage of.	Sarah Hulland	Halls
Making best use of vaccinations	Protecting your flock from performance and life limiting disease is key to business success. Learn your options for vaccinating and how to administer to ensure their highest efficacy.	Hannah Donegan	MSD Animal Health
Principles of sheep nutrition	Optimise your sheep production by ensuring nutrition is targeted to your flock throughout the sheep year.	Bryn Hughes	Wynnstay
Creating Demand for British Wool	British Wool will deliver a workshop on how it is creating demand for British wool throughout the supply chain from the raw fleece to the end product	Graham Clark	British Wool

