

Inspiring the Next Generation of Sheep Farmers

on Friday 12th November

at Stirling Agriculture Centre, A84, Stirling, FK9 4RN

- 10am Registration / Tea and coffee
- 10.30am Welcome
- Introducing NSA Next Generation – with Katie James, NSA Next Generation co-ordinator
- 10.45am Sharing experiences
- Alister Watson
  - Amy-Jo Reid
- 11.50am Work stations: Session 1***
- 12.30pm Lunch
- 1.15pm Work stations: Session 2* [Ten minutes change-over]
- 2.05pm Work stations: Session 3***
- 3.00pm Next steps – final comments and more ways to get involved with NSA, including the launch of NSA next Generation ambassador programme for 2022 and NSA Samuel Wharry Travel Bursary.
- 3.40pm Finish and depart

* PTO for work station details

www.uagroup.co.uk
UnitedAuctions
— Since 1858 —

Inspiring the Next Generation of Sheep Farmers

Work Stations

Title	Content	Speaker	Representing
What makes a successful livestock business?	Understanding the factors of high performing businesses and how to compare performance against yourself each year and other similar flocks, whether you're just starting out or running a large enterprise.	Stuart Ashworth	QMS
Lamb butchery demo	Watch and learn from an experienced Scotch Craft butcher as he talks workshop attendees through the process of lamb butchery.	Sean Graham	Scotch Craft Butchers
Making best use of vaccinations	Protecting your flock from performance and life limiting disease is key to business success. Learn your options for vaccinating and how to administer to ensure their highest efficacy.	Lisa O' Donnell	MSD Animal Health
Making sure young sheep farmers' voices are heard – future agricultural policy	Scotland needs practical solutions to deliver sustainable food production, explore climate change mitigation and addresses biodiversity decline. Have your say on what young shepherds need from Scottish Government and lead the way to forming future policy in this interactive workshop	Grace Reid	NSA Scottish Region
Targeted selection treatment of roundworms	Testing, forecasting and then targeting treatment against roundworms is becoming increasingly important to the health and performance of sheep flocks. Learn more in this workshop.	Fiona Kenyon	Moredun

www.uagroup.co.uk

UnitedAuctions

— Since 1858 —